

PUZZLE

CHANGING PARTNERS:

This originally crafted word game requires the solver to go through the entire alphabet — twice. The words on the left are purposely “misclued.” Find the two “partnered” letters that need to be replaced so that the clue matches the word. To illustrate, we’ll tell you that OPAL should be changed to OPUS. To help you keep track, check off the U and the S in the first- and second-letter alphabetic lists on the right. If every letter is struck out once then you should be okay. When you have solved it all correctly the 26 letters in the dotted spaces on the right will spell out the name of a noted musical organization.
